FORM 3: STATEMENT OF INFORMATION FOR RENTAL APPLICANTS

1. Discrimination is treating, or proposing to treat, someone unfavourably because of a personal attribute. Discrimination is also imposing an unreasonable requirement, condition or practice that disadvantages persons with a personal attribute.

2. In Victoria it is unlawful to discriminate against someone in relation to certain personal attributes. This means that residential rental providers (rental providers) and real estate agents cannot refuse you accommodation or discriminate against you during your tenancy on the basis of personal attributes protected by law. The following is a list of some protected attributes that are sometimes discriminated against in the rental market—

- age;
- disability (including physical, sensory, intellectual disability and mental illness);
- employment activity;
- expunged homosexual conviction;
- gender identity;
- industrial activity (including union activity);
- marital status;
- parental status or status as a carer;
- physical features;
- political belief or activity;
- pregnancy or breastfeeding;
- race;
- religious belief or activity;
- lawful sexual activity or sexual orientation;
- sex or intersex status;
- association with someone who has these personal attributes.

3. These personal attributes are protected by law and extend to agreements under the Residential Tenancies Act 1997 (the Act). It is against the law for a rental provider or their agent to treat you unfavourably or discriminate against you because of these personal attributes when you are applying for a rental property, occupying a rental property or leaving a rental property.

4. Discrimination on the basis of any of these personal attributes may contravene Victorian laws including the Act, the Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (the Equal Opportunity Act), and a range of Commonwealth Acts including the Age Discrimination Act 2004, the Disability Discrimination Act 1992, the Racial Discrimination Act 1975 and the Sex Discrimination Act 1984.

5. In some limited circumstances, discrimination may not be unlawful, including accommodation provided for children, shared family accommodation, and student accommodation. For example, a community housing provider who is funded to provide youth housing may positively discriminate to provide accommodation for a young person. For more information, contact the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission (VEOHRC).

6. Scenarios and examples of unlawful discrimination in applying for a property

- Refusing or not accepting your application because you have children, unless the premises is unsuitable for occupation by children due to its design or location.
- Processing your application differently to other applicants and not giving your application to the rental provider because you have a disability or because of your race.
- Offering you the property on different terms by requiring more bond or requiring you to have a guarantor because of your age.
- Refusing to provide accommodation because you have an assistance dog

7. Scenarios and examples of unlawful discrimination when occupying or leaving a property

- Refusing to agree to you assigning your lease to someone else because of that person's personal attributes.
- Refusing to allow you to make reasonable alterations or modifications to the property to meet your needs if you have a disability.
- Extending or renewing your agreement on less favourable terms than your original agreement based on your protected attributes (e.g. due to a disability).
- Issuing you with a notice to vacate based on your protected attributes.

The examples listed and similar actions could contravene the Act, the Equal Opportunity Act, or the Commonwealth Acts.

Getting help - If a rental provider or a real estate agent has unlawfully discriminated against you and you have suffered loss as a result, you may apply to VCAT for an order for compensation under section 210AA of the Act. VCAT may be contacted online at vcat.vic.gov.au/ or by calling 1300 018 228. If you would like advice about unlawful discrimination in relation to an application to rent or an existing agreement you may call Victoria Legal Aid on 1300 792 387.

If you feel you have been unlawfully discriminated against when applying to rent, or once you have occupied a property, you or someone on your behalf may make a complaint to VEOHRC at humanrightscommission.vic.gov.au/ or by calling 1300 292 153.

Pet Request Form

Residential Tenancies Act 1997 Section 71B

Renters must use this form to ask the residential rental provider (rental provider, formerly known as the landlord) for consent to keep a pet at the rented premises. Rental providers can only refuse a pet request if the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (VCAT) orders it is reasonable to do so.

A pet means any animal except an assistance dog (a dog that is trained to perform tasks to support a person with a disability).

Information for the renter

Complete a separate form for each pet you want to keep and give the completed form/s (including this information page) to the rental provider. Keep a copy of the form and the details of how you gave the request for your own records.

The rental provider cannot unreasonably refuse to give you consent. If they want to object to you keeping the pet, they will need to apply to VCAT within 14 days (starting the day they receive the form) for an order that they may refuse on reasonable grounds. It will be up to VCAT to decide if this type of order should be made. See 'What can VCAT order?' below.

If the rental provider does not apply to VCAT within this 14-day period, the rental provider's consent is taken to be granted. It may take several days for you to receive a copy of any VCAT application.

Information for the rental provider

If you consent to this pet request, it is recommended that you notify the renter in writing. Tick the relevant box in section 6 and send the form back to the renter, keeping a copy for your records.

Under the law, you must not unreasonably refuse consent for a renter to keep a pet on the rented premises. If you want to refuse, you must apply to VCAT within 14 days (of the day you receive this form). VCAT will hold a hearing and consider your application. See 'What can VCAT order?' below.

To apply, visit the VCAT Residential Tenancies Hub (vcat.vic.gov.au/RTHub) or call 1300 01 8228.

Complete section 6 of this form, to tell the resident whether you consent or whether you have applied to VCAT to refuse consent. Send the form back to the resident, and keep a copy for your records.

If you do not apply to VCAT within the 14-day period, this will mean you have consented to the pet request, even if you have not given consent in writing. What can VCAT order?

VCAT can order that:

- the renter may keep the pet on the premises, or
- it is reasonable for the rental provider to refuse consent to the pet request, and/or the pet is excluded from the premises.

When making its decision, VCAT may consider:

- the type of pet the renter wants to keep, or is keeping
- the character and nature of the premises the renter is renting
- the character and nature of the appliances, fixtures and fittings in the premises
- other relevant laws (for example, if the pet is prohibited by a local council law)
- anything else VCAT considers relevant.

If VCAT makes an order excluding the pet from the premises, the order will include a date for the renter to comply with the order. If the renter has not complied with the order within 14 days of that date, the rental provider may serve them with a notice to vacate, giving a minimum of 28 days' notice.

If a renter keeps a pet without consent

If a rental provider reasonably believes a renter is keeping a pet on the premises without consent, they can apply to VCAT for an order to exclude the pet from the premises. See 'What can VCAT order?' above.

Does this form apply to me?

New laws on pets in rental properties commenced on 2 March 2020. Renters do not need to request consent for pets that were already present in the rented premises before this date.

After 2 March 2020, renters who want to bring a new pet into the property must use this form to request consent. It does not matter what date the tenancy agreement started.
